this book argues that china s belt and road initiative should be seen more as a geopolitical project and less as a global economic project with china aiming to bring about a new chinese led international order it contends that china s international approach has two personas an aggressive one focusing on a nineteenth century style territorial empire which is applied to taiwan and the seas adjacent to china and a new style persona based on relationship building with the political elites of countries in the global south relying on large scale infrastructure projects to help secure the elites in power a process often leading to lower democratic participation and weaker governance structures it also shows how this relationship building with elites leads to an acceptance of chinese norms and to changes in states geopolitical preferences and foreign policies to align them with china s geopolitical interests with states thereby joining china s emerging international order overall the book emphasizes that this new style non territorial empire building based on relationships is a major new development in international relations not fully recognized and accounted for by international relations experts and theorists

this book presents an original explanation of the stark contrast between two very different chinese foreign policy patterns on the one hand there is beijing s hard power actorness related among others to territorial disputes and wolf warrior intimidating maneuvers on the other hand there are china s peaceful and cooperative actions well illustrated by the belt and road initiative this book shows that this situation is best understood as a consequence of the coexistence of two different chinese identities respectively associated with the concepts of nineteenth century style territorial empire and twenty first century style postmodern global power the book contends that in china s case they form a virtuous circle characterized by a specific division of labor as both identities are instrumental to the construction of a new chinese led international order the book provides a detailed analysis of the genesis development features and interplay of these identities it is relevant to scholars in china studies political history contemporary politics and foreign policy politics is hugely complex some try to reduce its complexity by examining it through an ideological worldview a one size fits all prescriptive formula or a quantitative examination of as many facts as possible yet politics cannot be adequately handled as if it were made of cells and particles ideological views are oversimplifying and sometimes dangerous politics is not simply a moral matter nor political philosophy a subdivision of moral philosophy this book is devised as a basic conceptual lexicon for all those who want to understand what politics is how it works and how it changes or fails to change key concepts such as power conflict legitimacy and order are clearly defined and their interplay in the state interstate and global level explored principles such as liberty equality justice and solidarity are discussed in the context of the political choices confronting us this compact and systematic introduction to the categories needed to grasp the fundamentals of politics will appeal to readers who want to gain a firmer grasp on the workings of politics as well as to scholars and students of philosophy political science and history
