the first decades of the twentieth century were pivotal for the historical and formal relationships between early cinema and cubism mechanomorphism abstraction and dada to examine these relationships jennifer wild's interdisciplinary study grapples with the cinema's expanded identity as a modernist form defined by the concept of horizontality found in early methods of projection film exhibition and in the film industry's penetration into cultural life by way of film stardom advertising and distribution cinematic horizontality provides a new

axis of inquiry for studying early twentieth century modernism shifting attention from the film to the horizon of possibility around behind and beyond the screen wild shows how canonical works of modern art may be understood as responding to the changing characteristics of daily life after the cinema drawing from a vast popular cultural cinematic and art historical archive wild challenges how we have told the story of modern artists earliest encounter with cinema and urges us to reconsider how early projection film stardom and film distribution transformed their understanding of modern life representation and the act of beholding by highlighting the cultural ideological and artistic forms of interpellation and resistance that shape the phenomenology of a wartime era the parisian avant garde in the age of cinema 1900 1923 provides an interdisciplinary history of radical form this book also offers a new historiography that redefines how we understand early cinema and avant garde art before artists turned to making films themselves the first decades of the twentieth century were pivotal for the historical and formal relationships between early cinema and cubism mechanomorphism abstraction and dada to examine these relationships jennifer wild s interdisciplinary study grapples the american artist man ray was one of the most influential figures of the historical avant garde contributing significantly to the development of both dadaism and surrealism whilst his pioneering work in photography assured him international acclaim his activity in other areas notably film is to this day both unknown and undervalued during the 1920s man ray made four short experimental films and collaborated on a host of other projects with people such as marcel duchamp fernand léger rené clair and hans richter these works along with a series of cinematic essays and home movies made during the 1920s and 1930s represent the most important contribution to the development of an alternative mode of filmmaking in the early twentieth century this book explores man ray s cinematic interactions from the perspective of his interdisciplinary artistic sensibility creating links between film photography painting poetry music architecture dance and sculpture by exposing his preoccupation with form and his ambiguous relationship with the politics and aesthetics of the dada and surrealist movements the author paints an intimate and complex portrait of man ray the filmmaker broaching the notion of the frame from a variety of analytic perspectives and employing a range of approaches this collection of articles engages with contemporary debates on text and image relations literary reception and translation narratology and cinematographic technique the various contributions to this collection provide new readings in their respective fields and share a common concern with exploring the productive and problematic notion of the frame and of framing in a wide variety of cultural media in french studies this interdisciplinary analysis of literary and theoretical texts visual art and film allows for fruitful connections to be made at the level of analysis of themes and of methodology it thus provides material that is of interest both to specialists in these fields and also to those seeking a more general introduction to each area this collection of articles is selected from the proceedings of the framed in french studies workshop held at the institut français in london in february 2006

this book walks us through the process of how artworks eventually get their meaning showing us how curated exhibitions invite audience members to weave an exhibition's narrative threads which gives artworks their contents and discursive sense arguing that exhibitions avail artworks as candidates for reception whose meaning value and relevance reflect audience responses it challenges the existing view that exhibitions present already validated candidates for appreciation instead this book stresses the collaborative nature of curatorial practices debunking the twin myths of autonomous artists and sovereign artistic directors and treating presentation and reception as separate processes employing set theory to distinguish curated exhibitions from uncurated exhibitions installation art and collections it demonstrates how exhibitions grant spectators access to concepts that aid their capacity to grasp artifacts as artworks to inform and illuminate current debates in curatorial practice spaid draws on a range of case studies from impressionism dada and surrealism to more contemporary exhibitions such as maurizio cattelan all 2011 and damien hirst 2012 in articulating the process that cycles through exploration interpretation presentation and reception curating bears resemblance to artistic direction more generally dada this onomatopoeia suggesting a child's babbling started one of the most important mutations in the history of art but what is dada born of the first world war dada is a movement bringing together both artists and writers from zurich in 1916 it spread rapidly to new york berlin hanover cologne and finally to paris where it died in 1924 because of the diversity of its creations the dada movement is not an ism of the art world there is no dada style although a single spirit does govern the works of this movement which is at once anti conformist anti bourgeois and above all anti artistic despite the short life of the dada movement it has provoked the interest of art historians museum directors and literary critics from all over the world the present volume comprises the literary texts of individual dadaists and periodicals from all dada centers as well as books articles exhibition catalogs and bibliographies by international scholars jo rgen schafer's exquisite dada is the most exhaustive bibliography on dada that has ever been compiled so far by giving a synopsis of some decades of scholarly research it provides an indispensable source for further studies on the matter this volume analyses and illustrates the personalities movements major figures and works that have given rise to contemporary art from matisse to picasso from boccioni to kirchner from kandinsky to malevich from de chirico to mondrian to duchamp the long awaited publication in english of the definitive book on paris dada
